PB&J | Poulsbo Blues & Jazz Festival

Join us at the Poulsbo Blues and Jazz Festival, located in downtown historic Poulsbo, “Little Norway,” from February 27 and 28, 2025. This exclusive intimate event will be like no other. Twenty-five amazing bands over the course of 2 days in select venues. Tickets are limited. The experience will be coveted. Don’t miss out.

This fun-filled weekend begins on Friday the 27th at 5pm with twelve bands that evening followed by twenty-four bands on Saturday the 28th. That is a total of 36 performances!! Five local venues will be hosting shows on a total of six stages. Doors open at 4:30pm Friday with music from 5pm to 9pm and Saturday doors open at 1:30 pm with music from 2:00- 11:00 pm. The festival is entirely indoors and easily accessed by walking with shuttle service to the Main Stage. For those planning to stay the night, there are several nearby hotels to choose from, allowing you to explore our charming town on Sunday! Poulsbo will be bustling all weekend with its restaurants, shops, and the world-famous Sluy’s bakery for delicious donuts.

The Poulsbo Blues and Jazz Festival is created and produced by Mary Gorman and Joe Hulsey. After extensive travel to over 100 music festivals, they felt it was time that their town have its own. PB&J was born. The festival is a vital part of our community and benefits the Poulsbo Rotary Club’s ongoing community service efforts. Hurry, though, as the festival is limited to the first 900 attendees.
